Covid-19 affected our lives both positively and negatively. Now we had to go everywhere with a mask. A mask is essential to protect our health. Now we spend more time at home. We learned that the time we spend outside is precious. We organized activities to improve ourselves at home and participated in new projects. We started doing almost most things online.

 In this mini book we want to use six thinking hat technique for critical thinking activity.
 This popular technique is now used by businesses all over the world. They involve putting on a selection of metaphorical hats when it comes to making a decision.
 Each hat represents a different direction of thinking.
The Question is
