This story happend a long time ago. A army was in the Wales and the king was worried he called his wise man. The wise man said: ' You must build a strong castle on the mountain.' The liked the idea but they had a big probleme last night the castel fell down! The wise man said: ' Maybe the mountain is angry you must give the mountain! What , asked the King? You need the blood of a spezial child, a child without a father. Find me this child, said the King. The wise man find the child his name was Marlin. I must kill you what think you, asked the king. Your wise man are wrong you don't need my blood. Look under the mountain. There are a cave ther two dragons a red Welsh dragon and the other is a white Saxons dragon. You must open the cave then you can build your castle, Merlin said. The Kings man found the cave. They opend and two terrible dragons flew out. Now you can build your castle, said Merlin. The dragons will fight years and years but don't worry the red Welsh dragon will win in the end. And that why the Welsh dragon is red.
